

Improvisation For Speakers

- A Free Comedy Workshop Hosted by Toastmasters of the Cove –
- Thursday June 20, 6:30-8:00 PM -

A successful speaker engages the audience on multiple levels. Let's practice engaging each other with exercises from the world of improvisational comedy that are designed to:

- Spark your spontaneity
- Strengthen Communication via body language, facial expressions, and vocal tone.
- Ignite your sense of humor
- Increase your confidence as a presenter

Jacquie Lowell, M.Ed., conducts active/interactive workshops for conferences, organizations, universities and companies worldwide. She has taught improvisational comedy in San Diego for thirty six years, and uses the vast array of exercises she has collected and developed to custom-tailor training programs in creativity, team building, and communication skills for such clients as McKinsey & Company, Visa, NCR, US Bank, Sun Microsystems, The Creative Education Foundation and The Humor Project. She founded and directs Outside the Lines improv comedy troupe, and loves working with speakers. You can reach her at j@jlowell.com

Toastmasters of the Cove Public Speaking Club at Doyle Park, in the UTC area. We are a fun, social, non-profit public speaking club that meets weekly to improve our speaking, listening, and meeting management skills. Guests are always welcome. We are always looking for new members and audience participants!

Club meetings every Thursday 6:30-8:00 PM, Doyle Park Recreation Center
8175 Regents Road, San Diego 92122. www.tmcove.com

Event RSVP : douglass.evans@sbcglobal.net